

ORDINANCE No. 52.

An ordinance to provide for the levy of taxes for the year A. D. 1906, for Municipal purposes for the City of Live Oak, Florida, and to provide a sinking fund and for the annual interests on the $10,000.00 bonded indebtedness of said City.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and the City Council of the City of Live Oak, Florida:

Section 1. For the purpose of securing an equal and uniform rate of taxation and to pay the current expenses of the City of Live Oak, Florida, for the ensuing tax year, there shall be levied and collected upon and out of the real and personal property within the incorporate limits of the City of Live Oak, Florida, for the year A. D. 1906, the tax of 7 mills on the dollar.

Sec. 2. For providing a sinking fund and paying the annual interest on the $10,000.00 bonded indebtedness of the City of Live Oak, Florida, dated February 28th, 1906, there shall be levied and collected upon and out of the real and personal property within the corporate limits of the City of Live Oak, Florida for the year A. D. 1906, a tax of 1-3 of one mill on the dollar.

Sec. 3. This ordinance shall go into effect immediately upon its passage by the Council and approved by the Mayor.

Introduced by J. L. White, member of the City Council and passed by the City Council this 17th day of September, A. D., 1906.

Attest:

CHAS. H. BROWN,
Pres. of City Council.

S. P. MAYS, City Clerk.
I, S. P. Clear Case of Banks.

The manager of a New York theater tells the following story: During a performance of "Rip Van Winkle" by the late Joseph Jefferson the manager, who was standing in the lobby, observed a countryman hovering about the entrance in an uncertain way. Finally, as with a determination to go the limit, the countryman bought a ticket and entered the house. A little while after the manager happened to be in the lobby again, when the countryman came out with an expression of intense disgust upon his face.

"Well, how do you like the show?" the manager inquired, with secret amusement.

The irate farmer grew confidential. "Say, mister," he replied, "I'm goin' tew have a mighty hard time sphainin' tew Marandy what I done with them tew dollars, but you kin bet I won't tell her I paid it tew see an old feller fill up on licker an' go ter sleep when I could 'a' gone up ter ther tavern at ther Corners an' 'a' seen old Bill Hardtree dew it fer nothin'!"—Success Magazine.

The Kangaroo at Bay.

When pursued the kangaroo, if possible, directs his flight toward the river. If he reaches it, he enters and, thanks to his great height, is able to go on foot to a depth where the dogs are obliged to swim. There he plants himself on his two hind legs and his tail, and, up to his shoulders in the water, he waits the attack of the dogs. With his fore paws he seizes by the head the first dog that approaches him, and, as he is more solidly balanced than his assailant, he holds the dog's nose under water as long as he can. Unless a second dog speedily comes to the rescue the first one is sure to be drowned. If a companion arrives and by his attacks on the kangaroo manages to set the captive free the half drowned brute is glad to regain the shore as quickly as possible. In this way a strong and courageous male kangaroo will hold his own against twenty or thirty dogs, drowning some and frightening others, and the hunter is obliged to intervene with a bullet.

Color and Aroma of Coffee.

There are two things which people imagine are guides to the goodness of coffee which are really of no consequence whatever. They are the color of the decoction and the aroma of the coffee when ground or as it escapes from the pot in drawing. The color is due almost entirely to the roasting. This is true also of tea. The finest coffees and teas, when properly roasted and prepared, to give out their finest flavors will color the water but little. The real essences which give the flavor have practically no color.

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS
The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.
